GREAT REUNION IN FULL BLAST.

First Exercises Held in Opera House Yesterday.

The Largest Number of Distinguished People That Ever Assembled in the State were Present--Eloquent Talks by Several of the State's Most Distinguished Citizens and Also by Those from Distant States--The City Presents a Festive Appearance--Everything Possible is Being Done to Make the State's Children Enjoy Themselves

Yesterday at two o'clock many of the wandering sons and daughters of Carolina from distant states as well as hundreds from this city and this state gathered in the opera house to attend the Great Reunion exercises. On the face of every one was that expression which comes when friend meets friend and those long absent meet in a joyful reunion.

There were present men who left here years ago to make their fortunes in other states. The majority of those who left were young men and had not made a reputation for themselves. Many of them now return, honored by the state where they live and an honor to the state that gave them birth.

Many who wished to attend the reunion could not be present but they sent messages by those who did come telling of their desire to be here and also sent their best wishes to those here assembled.

When Dr. Charles D. McIver, chairman of the board of managers, stepped upon the platform his presence was greeted with loud applause. A few minutes later when the soldier, the diplomat, the statesman Ex-Senator Matt W. Ransom, presiding officer of the Reunion, appeared before the audience an outburst of applause rang out as one and all gave welcome to Carolina's honored son.

Twenty-six states were represented at the reunion exercises yesterday afternoon. Never in the history of North Carolina has there gathered within her borders such a distinguished crowd of personages. Governor Aycock said that it looked like North Carolinians held important offices no matter where they went.

The Normal College orchestra furnished the music yesterday afternoon and the Glee Club was also present and led in the different patriotic songs. It was about 2:30 when the exercises began the opening prayer being offered by Dr. C. W. Byrd, of Atlanta. Dr. McIver then asked the audience to rise and sing the State song. As from one throat the words, "Carolina, Carolina, May Heavens Blessings Attend Her," rang through the building. If there were any present who did not have the spirit of gladness in their heart and were not proud of the fact that they were North Carolinians their feeling must have changed as they heard this mighty assemblage of people sing this song.

OPENING OF THE EXERCISES.

Dr. McIver then rose and addressed the audience as follows:

There are gathered before me representaitves from twenty six different states, but they are today all representatives of one state, and that state is North Carolina.

On behalf of the Board of Managers I desire to thank every citizen of Greensboro and every North Carolinian, resident and non-resident, and all others who have contributed in any way to the success of this the first North Carolina reunion.

The purposes of the Reunion are three:

First—To furnish an opportunity for North Carolinians, at home and abroad to renew and strengthen old friendships and to form new ones.

Second—To secure for North Carolina from those who, in the fortunes of life, have left her borders and made their homes elsewhere, the inspiration and instruction that their varied experi ence and wider view make them capable of giving to us who are actively engaged in the work of upbuilding our mother state.

Third—To advertise to the country North Carolina's contribution to American citizenship, and to so organize her sons and daughters, resident and non-resident, that whatever of good there is in the character, traditions, and history of the sturdy old commonwealth may be impressed upon our national life.

Naturally this first meeting has been regarded by many as an experiment, and t he board of managers has met various difficulties. It was impossible for instance, to secure from some sections such railroad rates as it will be easy to secure after one successful reunion. Indeed it was impossible to secure the liberal rates finally accorded to use in time to advertise them properly in the territory where they were given.

Another great difficulty, which, in large measure, has been overcome, was the idea in the minds of many people, in the state and out of it, that this was to be a meeting of only local significance.

The hardest task, perhaps, has been to arrange a program, sufficiently representative and not too long, that would leave opportunity for personal intermingling and individual greetings. The formal program upon which we are about to enter includes the names of many who, by their services, have brought honor to their native state, their adopted states and to the country.

In order that we may hear from as many of these as possible, we have arranged for only one address—that of our governor—to be as long as thirty minutes, and for no other address to be longer than twenty minutes. We have asked that the length of most of the other addresses shall be from five to seven minutes. We hope that some whose names do not appear upon the official program, and especially citizens of those commonwealths not represented on it, may, as spokesmen for their respective states, make impromptu five minute speeches.

It is the purpose of the management to print a reunion volume, and if any speaker has not already prepared in manuscript what he is going to say, I take this opportunity of requesting him to write out before leaving Greensboro at least the substance of what he has said, or what he intended to say, or what he ought to have said.

It now becomes my pleasant duty and honor to present to you to preside over the sessions of this reunion, a North Carolinian who has been eminent in civic service to his state and country for nearly half a century. The board of managers considers itself fortunate that his knightly presence is one of the many attractions of this great occasion. The soldiers, statesman, and diplomat, Matthew Whitaker Ransom, will be our permanent presiding officer."

As Senator Ransom stepped before the audience he was visably affected with emotion. Drawing himself up to his full height he slowly repeated the words, "North Carolinians, North Carolinians," and then stopped. For a few seconds he silently faced the audience . Profound silence reigned throughout the building. The aged statesman had captured his audience although he had uttered only the name of North Carolina. The speaker paid a glowing tribute to those who have made the reunion a success. He said the first words that came upon his lips when he thought of this reunion were, "All honor and all gratitude to the promoters of this grand consummation." He continued, "Pardon me if I say in the name of the state, in the name of the whole country, that you have rendered aid to posterity and to history in carrying out this great reunion."

Senator Ransom spoke with his accustomed beauty and power and kept his audience spell bound by his eloquence.

In closing his address Senator Ransom said, "I will present a man born in Northt Carolina, a great man, a good man, a mighty man in North Carolina. A fit successor to John Morehead and Zebulon B. Vance. A man who loves his country, his whole country, he loves his people. He is an honor to his state and the United States. I present to you Charles B. Aycock, governor of North Carolina."

GOVERNOR AYCOCK'S ADDRESS.

Governor Aycock said in opening his address:

Ladies and Gentlemen:—The committee in charge of this celebration have honored me with the high duty of extending to you a welcome to your old home. If I could but find fitting words in which to set before you the breadth and depth of the gladness which stirs the heart of North Carolina today the duty would be transformed for me into the highest pleasure. We are glad to have you with us once more. You come to us not as younger sons who have wasted your portions in riotous living, but as sons who left us with our blessing to seek the favors of fortune elsewhere and having won your places in other states, have come home at last to renew your acquaintance with old friends and rejoice again amid the scenes of your youth. We shall, therefore, kill no fatted calves for you, no robes will be brought out and no rings placed upon your fingers. You are at home again to share with us all the things which we have. The North Carolina look is in your eye; her speech is on your lips; her ideals live in your hearts. We rejoice in your presence; take delight in your prosperity; praise you for the things which you have done and hope the utmost of your future. We wish you to feel that this is now again you state. We would awaken the memories of your early youth and stir afresh the old time affection. And this state of your nativity is worthy of your love. Her [illegible] justify your [illegible] ments compare with those of any other state and make her sons, wherever they be, proud to be known as North Carolinians. You can sing with us:

"Carolina, Carolina, Heaven's blessings attend her,
While we live, we will cherish, protect and defend her.
Though scorners may sneer at and witlings defame her,
Our hearts swell with gladness whenever we name her."

The governor then entered into an interesting historical discussion about the state's early history.

Governor Aycock said further:

Today our fields abound with harvest. From the mountain to the sea shore there is abundance. There is not, from Hatteras to Murphy, from Virginia to South Carolina, a man, woman or child who is hungry today. North Carolina and South Carolina manufacture sixty per cent of all the cotton manufactured in the south and of this sixty per cent, this state claims over half. Within this county the forty furniture factories giving employment to thousands of skilled laborers, sell their furniture in Grand Rapids and take tribute to their superior workmanship from every state in the union. The census shows that we more than doubled our investments in manufacture in the last decade. We grow more cotton on less acerage than ever before, while our tobacco crop in value exceeds that of any state in the union. Our vegetable gardens have grown into fields and we feed the crowding multitudes of the eastern cities. In every department of human activity your brothers here are forging to the front. We stand in the morning with our faces to the light and gladly hear the command that "we go forward."

I have thought it not inappropriate to tell you these things on your return to your old home, for it is the right of one who has gone out from underneath the shade of the family tree to hear when he comes back what the folks at home have been doing. Above all it is your right to know what we are. Whether we are sustaining the ideals of the past, what sort of structure we are rearing upon the foundation laid by your ancestors. In your travels you may have run across "the scorners who scoff at and the witlings who defame" this state. You may have heard that she is ignorant and provincial, but I have the pleasure to inform you what your affection already knows, that there can be found nowhere within her borders a man known out of his township ignorant enough to join with the fool in saying "There is no God." There is no man amongst us whose hand is so untrained that it does not instinctively seek his hat in the presence of a woman. There is no ear so untaught that it does not hear the cry of pity, and no heart so untutored that it does not beat in sympathy with the weak and the distressed. Illiterate we have been, but ignorant, never. Books we have not known, but of men we have learned and of God we have sought to find out. "A gentle people and open," frank and courteous, passionate when aroused, and dangerous in conflict, capable of sacrifice, among warriors the first—praised by me as warriors only because of the high courage manifested there, giving promise of the wonderful achievements which lie before us in peace. These are your people, they are my people. I am proud of their history; proud of their character and glad to introduce you to them again. Your brethren all wish you to stay among us to the utmost limit of your time, to see us and know us as we are. If you find our material condition better than it was when you left us, we claim no praise for it. If we have done well, it is because we were taught aright by those who went before us, taught at their expense, and credit belongs to the malone. We think we hold on to the truths which our fathers taught us. We believe that we still maintain a passion for liberty; that we love independence and set more store by honor than by wealth, and that we seek wealth only in order that the kind promptings of our hearts may find a better way in which to express themselves; that our deeds may keep pace with our wishes and that the earth may grow better by what we do. In log cabin, in frame house, in modern mansion, each and all of you will find a welcome. The latch string hangs outside the door but not for you. The latch string is for the stranger only; the door stands open for you.

To the representatives of those cities whose North Carolina population is large enough to justify the organization of North Carolina societies, I am directed to express the appreciation of my people for the manifestation of your continued affection which has brought you totgether in your [illegible] homes under the name of the [illegible] remembered by you. It inspires us to our best efforts, to aminatain that affection which is so beautifully expressed in your act. It deters us from doing anythihng to bring dishohnor upon that fair name in whose honor you associate. It has been my pleasure once since I have been governor of this state to be the guest of a North Carolina Society in a distant city. It was to me a great happiness. I rejoiced in their prosperity. I delighted in their manifest joy whenever the old mother state was mentioned. They tried to sing for me The Old North State but they broke down before finishing the first stanza. Gentlemen,you cannot sing the songs of Zion in strange lands. The music of The Old North State is for home. Like our scuppernong grape it is racy of the soil and cannot be brought to perfection elsewhere.

Again I thank you, ladies and gentlemen, for coming among us. I greet you in the name of the whole people. I extend to you all the liberties of the state and invoke that pious benediction of Tiny Tim "God bless us everyone."

COLONEL MOREHEAD'S ADDRESS.

Col. James T. Morehead made the address of welcome on the part of the city. He said: At the invitation of the people of our common mother extended by their representatives in the general assembly you have left your homes, here to meet again under her sunny skies, and you have just listented to her hearty welcome expressed through her chief executive.

I have the honor to welcome you, especially in behalf of the people of historirc Guilford and her capital city and to assure you that we yield to none in heart felt pleasure in greeting Carolina's "Scattered Abroad."

I hope I may be pardoned for repeating what has been said by others that it was a happy suggestion that this location was the most appropriate selection for this first reunion.

As this city, then a village, was the Gate Way through which thousands of emigrants, who in the last two decades of the first half of the last century sorrowfully passed, emigrating to the then new states and territories, their caravan of white covered wagons freighted with their household goods and their household god lining its unimproved streets; so now it is the Gate City through which the great majority of those who from time to time return pass to visit the scenes of their early childhood and youth to almost every section of the state

You have heard and read how the stay at home tarheels by their grit and perseverance since "all was lost save honor" have rebuilt the waste places, have added manufacturing to agriculture, until today the Old North State is forging to the front abreast with her more fortunate sisters. This improvement is marked in all her counties—villages have become cities her highways have been improved and railways cross each other in all sections. She is rapidly progressing in education, and in fact in everything that goes to make a great, happy and prosperous commonwealth, as you will realize when you visit your old homes in every part of the globe.

In this city and county you have, so to speak, an object lesson.

At the date of emigration in such large numbers referred to, the site of High Point was not even cleared ground—today it is a city of between five and eight thousand inhabitants. It boasts of being the largest manufacturer of wooden products in the south, and second in the United States. Guilford College, today, deservedly ranking among the best and most popular,the only Quaker College in the south, was but a simple boarding school. Oak Ridge Institute and Whitsett Institute, now entitled to be called colleges, had no existence. Greensboro had two colleges for women whose combined patronage did not exceed one hundred students (one of which has since been destroyed by fire) and one classical institute for young men. Today within her corporate limits are located two of the state's finest colleges, one for women, with a patronage of nearly a thousand students, and the remaining one of the two first mentioned has a patronage of more than double that of both at that time. She has five graded schools in the highest of which is taught the classics which nearly two thousand children attend. There are in addition several graded schools in the county.

In addition to these she is manufacturing clothing, furniture and tobacco, everything made of wood, vehicles, material for building; and among her workers in iron are manufacturers of mill machinery, agricultural implements, and in fact if old Tubal Cain [illegible] ed in this [illegible] he would [illegible]

This city is not alone in this grand march of progress. I repeat I select it as an object lesson * * * * *

When you return to your homes and recount to your absent kindred, who were prevented from meeting with us today, the glorious progress of the Old North State, I beg to you not to forget to speak of other things which you have not yet seen, but which you will see in your visits to your old homes before you return. * * * * *

And I venture to assert that when you recall these pictures of the old days the broader will be the smile, and the happier the chuckle, with which it will be received. And inspired by their recollections of the old times in the Old North State many a fireside, and perhaps public gathering, will be entertained by stories of contests at the bar, merry meetings at the old log school house, and perhaps the glories of exciting combats of local pugilists at the "old muster fields."

Again I bid you thrice welcome.

RESPONSES.

After the regular addresses of the day a number of short talks were made by visiting native North Carolinians. The first talk was made by the Hon. Lawrence D. Tyson, speaker of the house of representatives of Tennessee. He made a beautiful talk and it was greatly enjoyed. The speaker said he had long wished for an occasion like this when he could come back to his native state and address his people at a grand old reunion. He said his state was in the truest sense of the word a daughter of Carolina and that within her borders were more people of North Carolina ancestry than from any other state.

The next speaker was the Hon. Frank E. Shober, of New York city. His talk was full of pathos and beauty and in the few minutes he consumed in his talk he captured the whole audience. The speaker spoke in pathetic terms of the old negro who befriended him when a boy. In speaking of his old colored friend the distinguished New Yorker said, "I like to think of my boyhood days and old Uncle Albert. I was happy when I could slip into his cabin and get him to relate stories. He taught me how to fish, how to fix my rabbit gums,how to hide back of the barn and smoke rabbit tobacco. He was my best friend and I like to think of my childhood days and when I think of the negro I say with William R. Hearst, "Let the south alone, she can take care of herself."

Hon. W. H. Futrell, of Philadelphia.

Penalties for Marrying?

Chicago Record-Herald.

Matrimony is considered a punishable offense in some communities. These circles of society are small, but their edicts are strong. The larger community, if it takes cognizance of a man's single state usually imposes a fine for not getting married, as in Argentina, where bachelorhood requires the payment of an increasing tax to the government.

But in certain circles marriage is regarded as an offense. At Oxford University, for instance, a fellow of All Souls College forfeits his fellowship if he takes to himself a wife who he is supposed to be studying the classics.

He not only must pay a penalty, but he must present his college a memorial in the shape of a silver cup, on which is inscribed the words. "Descendit in matrimonium."—"He blackslid into matrimony."

I had Dyspepsia in its worst form and felt miserable most all the time. Did not enjoy eating until after I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure which has completely cured me.—Mrs. W. W. Saylor, Hilliard, Pa. No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation bad breath, sour risings, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles are quickly cured by the use of Kodol. Kodol represents the natural juices of digestion combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. It cleanses, purifies and sweetens the stomach. Sold by Howard Gardner.

"I am a widower," a Missourian said today, "and have been for twenty years, and am as persistent in it as I ever was."

DIETING INVITES DISEASE.

To cure Dyspepsia or indigestion it is no longer necessary to live on milk and toast. Starvation produces such weakness that the whole system becomes an easy prey to disease. Kodol Dyspepsia cure enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all of the wholesome food that one cares to eat and is a never failing cure for indigestion. Dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. Kodol digests what you eat—makes the stomach sweet. Sold by Howard Gardner.

We find that we are getting old, and that all our life we have been too crowded for time to read a description of a sunset.

A GREAT SENSATION.

There was a big sensation in Leesville, Ind., when W. H. Brown of that place, who was expected to die, had his life saved by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. He writes: "I endured insufferable agonies from Asthma but your New Discovery gave me immediate relief and soon thereafter effected a complete cure. Similar cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis and Grip are numerous. It's the peerless remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c, and $1. Guaranted by Holton's drug store, Conyers and Sykes, proprietors. Trial bottles free.

It is almost as risky to praise a woman's husband to her face as it is to criticise him.

A SICK MAN

Cannot Afford to be Skeptical Concerning My Method of Curing Disease.

He should carefully investigate all my claims before he forms an opinion as to the merits of my system. He is not serving his own best interests when he refuses to investigate, for no sick person can afford to remain sick when it is possible for him to be restored to a condition of perfect health. The cures that I have effected right here in Greensboro in the last few months are sufficient to convince any fair-minded person that my method is successful in overcoming disease. The fact that every one of these cases had been attended for a number of years by the best medical physicians of Guilford county with little or no benefit is indisputable evidence that my method is superior to drugs and medicine.

Within the last few months I have cured by my Life System one or more severe cases of the following named diseases: Lumbago, Intercostal Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Catarrh of the Stomach, Dyspepsia, Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh of the Nose and Throat, Hemorrhoids, Gastritis, Tumor, Chronic Constipation, Inflammation of the Bladder, Insomnia, both Nervous and Organic Heart Disease, Conjunctivitis, Astigmatism and a number of diseases peculiar to women.

I give below names and addresses of a few well-known people who recommend my system:

Mrs. M. F. Jeffries, 420 W. Bragg Street.
Mr. R. J. Allen, 324 E. Bragg Street.
Mrs. P. J. Crim, Winston-Salem.
Mr. P. Q. Weathersbee, Durham.
Mrs. E. A. Reynolds, 401 Spring Street
Mrs. Wm. Jennings, 720 West Lee Street.
Mr. Andrew Joynor, Gaston Street.
Mrs. W. W. West, 601 S Spring
Mrs. W. R. Pleasants, 506 S. Spring.
Mrs. C. C. Gorrell, 109 W. Market Street.
Mr. B. Cooper, 218 W. Market Street,
Mrs. E. J. Lynch, 218 E. Washington Street.
Mrs. Mary Payne, 127 Church Street.
Mrs. E. P. McLean, 320 N. Forbis St.
Mr. A. F. Guirkin, Cor Spring & Sycamore St,
Mr. T. J. Hunt, Walker Avenue.
Miss Anna Dick, 218 N. Elm.

ROBBED THE GRAVE.

A startling incident, is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters, to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed, at Holton's Drug Store, Conyers & Sykes, proprietors.

A PERFECT PAINLESS PILL.

is the one that will cleanse the system, set the liver to action, remove the bile, clear the complexion, cure headache and leave a good taste in the mouth. The famous little pills for doing such work pleasantly and effectually are De Witt's Little Early Risers. Bob Moore, of Lafayette, Ind., says: "All other pills I have used gripe and sicken, while DeWitt's Little Early Risers are simply perfect. Sold by Howard Gardner.

Brevity instead of being the soul of wit is at times an indication of the poverty thereof.

A COUGH IS ONLY A SYMPTOM. A cough is not a disease but a symtom of disease. A cough always indicates that either the throat or lungs are affected. When the mucus lining of the throat or lungs, becomes inflamed the irritation causes coughing. Don't neglect a cough. It may be the symptom of serious throat or lung disease. Rydales Elixir kills the germs that cause the trouble, soothes the irritated mucus membrane, gently stimulates the nerves that control the respiratory organs and thus helps nature to speedily restore normal conditions and healthy action.

A WOMAN'S BACK.

THE ACHES AND PAINS WILL DISAPPEAR IF THE ADVICE OF THIS GREENSBORO CITIZEN IS FOLLOWED.

A woman's back has many aches and pains.
Most times 'tis the kidneys fault.
Backache is really kidney ache.
That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it.
Many Greensboro women know this.
Read what one has to say about it.
Mrs. Malinda J. Baxter, residing at 444 Church street, says: "An attack of the grip left mea sufferer from kidney trouble. I had most distressing pains across the small of my back and through the kidneys. I doctored almost continually, taking quantities of medicine and getting no relief. I almost despaired of ever becoming well. Even the moving or lifting of a chair caused sharp pains in my back kidcaused shap pains in my kidneys. A friend advised the use of Doan's Kidney Pills so I procured a box at Holton's drug store, and I must say their use wonderfully improved my condition not only as to the kidneys but my general health is better."
Sold by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

SOME REUNION REFLECTIONS.

The First North Carolina Reunion is a breezy sort of affair. Greensboro, used as it is to gala events, hasn't seen anything hitherto that has stirred it so. Never did such crowds attend the public play house as did Sunday for the Reunion sermon and yesterday afternoon for the exercises of that hour. Never was the town so bedecked. Never was the air so vibrant with excitement, expectation, enjoyment. Never did brighter weather smile on an occasion. Never did so many prominent men gather here at one time. Never, in a word, was there such a thoroughly auspicious event. There are going to be subsequent reunions but we shall be afraid of them lest they fail to come up to the precedent established this good week. Senator Ransom said yesterday that all honor was due the promoters and authors of the movement and so it is. They have accomplished wonders. They are the heroes of difficulty portrayed in Dr. Dixon's famous reunion sermon. However, this is not to forget the reunion visitors. As has before been stated in this paper they are all assured of a hearty welcome to our city. Greensboro is particularly proud of the lustre which these dispersed North Carolinians have shed upon the state. They have done the state a great service—let us all honor them. The reunion was largely held to show what men North Carolina can produce. Who shall say that purpose has not been fulfilled?

As stated in yesterday's paper the cuts used therein were loaned by the Raleigh News and Observer. That paper is always generous. We wish to bear special testimony to its great good nature and kindliness towards this paper.

Music and Elocution Recital

A large crowd attended music and elocution recital given at the Greensboro Female College last night.

Mrs. Roberson made an address of welcome on the part of the College which was greatly enjoyed. The program was as follows:

Duet—"Flow Gently Deva."—Parry —Mr. Parker and Mr. White.

Reading—Merchant of Venice —Act I—Scene 2; Act III.—Scene 2.— Miss Blanche Etta Chattuck.

Solo— "Blow, Blow, Thou Winter Wind."—Sargent—Mr. White.

Duo—"Carpriccio Brilliant." Op. 22 —Mendelsohn—Miss Blalock and Miss Balsley.

Solo—"For All Eternity"—Mascerони. —Miss Hall.

Reading—Audrey —Act IV— Mary Johnston—Miss Blanche Etta Shattuck.

Duet—"Night". —Millilotte — Mrs. W. H. Stone and Mr. Parker.

The entertainment was greatly enjoyed by all who were present. After the entertainment a reception was given.

City Libary.

Our city library has been fortunate in securing for the reunion a loan collection of portraits. About eighteen of the familiar faces of Greensboro's past history are there to welcome the friends of the old times. Library third floor of city hall. Hours ten a. m. to 10 p. m. Visitors always welcome.

Tickets for Adelaide Thurston in "Polly Primrose" are on sale at Fariss' drug store.

Miss Mary Exum Meares, of Hillsboro, arrived in the city last evening to spend several weeks with the family of Judge R. C. Strudwick.

We are requested to say that all North Carolinians, resident or non-resident, or any one else who is interested in making investments in Greensboro are invited to attend an auction sale of business property located in the center of business. The sale to be conducted on the property on corner of Davie and Washington streets.

"I am a widower," a Missourian said today, "and have been for twenty years, and am as persistent in it as I ever was."

We find that we are getting old, and that all our life we have been too crowded for time to read a description of a sunset.

A Badge to Miss Thurston.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 11.—The presenting of Paul Wilstack's southern play, "Polly Primrose," at the Academy Saturday night by Miss Adelaide Thurston was marked by a pleasant incident. At the close of the third act Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, on behalf of the Richmond Chapter Daughters of the Confederacy, presented a gold pin, an emblem of the organization, to Miss Thurston, who is an honoray member of the Norfolk Chapter. General Lee made a very graceful speech and Miss Thurston responded appropriately. A number of members of the chapter and Mrs. Montague and a party of friends occupied boxes.

Murat Halstead

A picturesque figure among the throngs of visitors to the Reunion is Hon. Murat Holstead, of Cincinnati. He arrived Sunday night accompanied by his niece, Miss Stevenson. Mr. Halstead is the noted war correspondent and his name is familiar to all readers of newspapers and magazines. His hair and beard are perfectly white but he has the appearance of being in vigorous health.

The famous Bostocks will be open at 9 a. m. in the morning at the fair grounds. Manager Sanges has enlarged the show since its appearance here last year with new acts and new features. At York, Pa., Friday Mlle. Ara Cecil was attacked by her leopards and manager went to her assistance. The pagean left Melle Ara Cecil and furiously attacked Manager Sanges with teeth and claws biting him on his hand and legs very severely. He was treated by surgeon Stedman of Co. H. U. S. calvary at the York fair grounds. His wound was treated this morning by a leading physician of this city who says with care all danger of blood poisoning is past.

Bert Weadon, advance agent for Manager Sanges of the Bostock show is in the city fixing things for the fair.

Mr. John A. Rogers, a successful young pharmacist of Lillington, is among the numerous visitors in the city attending the Reunion.

STIEFF PIANOS

"Sing their own praise."

One of the greatest characteristics of the past and present day is

INDIVIDUALITY.

The individuality of the Stieff Piano is its chief charm. There is NO other piano just like the Stieff. Others try to imitate but somehow they fail to reach that "everything"—that "individuality characteristic of the Stieff Piano.

The Stieff Piano

Enjoys still another "individuality" foreign to any other great make. It is sold direct to the user instead of the to the retail dealer to resell. This individuality keeps the retail dealers' big profits in your home, and yet you secure an ideal piano, one that will meet every demand of the greatest pianist or most exacting musician. It costs no more than a medium grade, or more likely cheap thump-box through the middleman.

was the next orator of the program. He said what this country needed was leaders, men who not only knew what to do, but men who had the power and strength of character to carry out their convictions. He said the Anglo Saxon race had kind of character he meant and that North Carolina had purer Anglo Saxon stock than any other state in the union. The s peaker gave this as the reason why so many men from this state have made reputations no matter where they went.

John Wilber Jenkins, now of the Baltimore Sun, but recently of this state, made an excellent talk. He spoke of the fact that North Carolina should make herself known and not let other states bear the honors that are justly hers. The speaker also spoke of the individuality of character of North Carolinians." Each man owns himself," the speaker said, "and there is no state in the union which comes so near owing herself as the state of North Carolina."

Dr. W. W. Moore, of Richmond, next made a short but eloquent talk. Dr. Moore said he saw the reason given in a Richmond paper a few days ago as to why so many North Carolinians were to be found dispersed throughout the different states of the union. The reason given was that North Carolinians were in such demand wherever they went. The speaker declared that if all the native North Carolinians were to leave Richmond, there would be a collapse of several of the leading institutions of that city.

The last speech of the day was made by Dr. R. P. Pell, president of Converse College at Spartanburg, S. C. He said when North Carolinians left the state they neither forgot nor closed their eyes upon North Carolina, but that every man had to go where the best opportunities presented themselves.

Just before the exercises closed Dr. McIver read the following telegram:

Los. Angeles, California. Oct. 12.
Charles B. Aycock, Chairman of North Carolina Reunion Association, Greenesboro, N. C.

Permit me through you to convey my greeting to the sons and daughters of the old North State who are assembled in reunion today. Though many miles separate us my thoughts and best wishes are with them. I regret my inability to be in Greensboro on this occasion. M. P. SNYDER, Mayor of Los Angeles, Third Term.

NORTH CAROLINA

A Unique Play Given at the Normal College Last Night

One of the most unique entertainments ever given in this city was given at the State Normal College last night. It was not exactly a play, it was better than a play. The title was North Carolina, her history, her industries and institutions and her kin.

The girls were dressed in costumes representing in each case the part which they played. Perhaps the best and most enjoyable part of the program was that which represented the different states which owe to North Carolina a debt of gratitude. There were seventeen states in this list and each one had some great son who had left North Carolina. We cannot name the part taken in regard to each state, for lack of space. The representative of Texas was among the best. As Montana's representative stepped forth she said, "We gave Montana her only Congressman." Indiana was represented by two girls dressed in Quaker attire and they drew upon the stage a small covered wagon such as the immigrants used in going west years ago. The entertainment was without a doubt one of the most enjoyable ever given at the Normal college. The building was filled to overflowing and a large number had to be turned away from the doors.

THE MASONS

Gave a Reeception Last Night to Visiting Members.

The Mason's gave a reception at the Masonic hall last night and right royally did they entertain their visitors. Masons from Indiana, Ohio, Tennessee, Virginia, and a number of other states were present. During the evening several ladies dropped into the Masonic headquarters and made the evening more pleasant and the entertainment more complete by their presence. Delicious refreshments were served and an orchestra was also on hand to furnish music for the occasion. The event proved a most enjoyable one and those of other states and of other sections of this state who attended will long remember the delightful evening during the first Great North Carolina Reunion that they spent as the guests of the Greensboro Masons.

The Greensboro Lodge of Odd Fellows has established headquarters at the store of the Guilford Hardware Company and invite all visiting wearers of the links to call and make themselves at home.

THE K. OF P. "SMOKER."

Given at the Pythian Hall Last Night Was Greatly Enjoyed.

One of the crowning features of the closing of the first day of the reunion was the entertainment given in Pythian Hall last night complimentary to the visiting brethren. The affair was in the nature of a "smoker" and the hall was crowded with local members and visitors.

Past Chancellor C. C. McLean presided over the meeting and introduced the speakers. First there was an eloquent address of welcome by Judge Strudwick on behalf of the local Pythians. Then a superb address on behalf of the domain of North Carolina by Grand Chancellor W. M. Liles of Charlotte.

The response on behalf of the visiting Pythians was made by Past Chancellor C. I. Perry of Westfield, Indiana.

Governor Aycock was present and responded to an invitation to speak in an appropriate talk that was warmly received. Governor Aycock was followed by Attorney General R. D. Gilmer who spoke eloquently of the tenets of Pythianism. Lieutenant Governor W. D. Turner expressed his pleasure at being present and spoke of the value of the lessons taught by the order. He was followed in a characteristic speech by Past Chancellor John R. Wilborn, of High Point.

There was then a season of refreshments in which luscious fruit consisting of apples and pears, was enjoyed, followed by cigars.

Several more short talks were made, one by Past Grand Chancellor Jack Scott, another by Dr. J. W. Long, Mr. P. H. Morris, of Asheboro and several others.

It was altogether an evening of rare enjoyment and proves that Pythianism in Greensboro is like everything else, in the hands of progressive men, men who love the order and are determined that its growth shall keep pace with the material growth and prosperity of the city. No lodge in the state has outgrown Greensboro Lodge, No. 80, under whose auspices the event of last night was given. This lodge now has 265 members and is still growing.

THE UNIVERSITY ALUMNI

Given a Reception at the State Normal Last Night.

The University Alumni Association of Guilford county gave a reception last night in the dining hall of the State Normal College to the visiting Alumni of the University. A large number of University men were present and the number included many of the distinguished citizens of this and other states. Short but eloquent talks were made by President Francis P. Venable, Dr. Kemp P. Battle, Dr. Geo. T. Winston, Hon. J. Y. Joyner, Gov. Chas. B. Aycock, Judge Fitzgerald, of the supreme court of Nevada, Hon. S. M. Gattis. Hon. Henry A. London, Gen. Julian S. Carr, Hon. Josephus Daniels, and Hon. Murat Halstead. Judge Fitzgerald graduated from the university forty one years ago. Hon. Murat Halstead is not an alumnus of the University, but was a guest of the occasion. In his talk he said he had never listened to finer speeches than those he had just heard. He said that he thought North Carolina should be noted for her orators more than for any other one thing.

All who attended the reception say they never listened to more eloquent speeches, but they say taking into consideration the type of men who made the speeches, they could only have expected eloquence. A telegram was read from Mrs. Cornelia Spencer saying it was with great regret that she could not be present. After the speeches were over refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake were served.

CENTRAL CAROLINA FAIR

Opens Today and Will be the Largest Yet Held.

The Central Carolina Fair opens today. When it is said that this will be the largest fair ever held here, the pure truth in regard to the fair is told, nothing more. There has never been a fair in this state in which such a large number of race horses have been entered. There has never been a fair in this state, and possibly never in the south in which there were so many poultry entries. In all there are about 1,700. This in itself is well worth coming here to see.

The exhibits will be very fine this year, in fact every feature of the fair has been improved on and those who have been here and attended fairs in the past will be surprised, when they visit the fair grounds and see the changes made.

The best midway and by far the largest number of attractions ever gathered in this city are here. The Central Carolina Fair is fast passing from a mere local fair and is assuming importance that equals if not exceeds that of the state fair.

CLEAN CASE OF BAD LIVER.

Girard (Ill.) Anchor: Like the dark raven of gloom and fond hopes blasted ,or the dovelike symphonies of glad tidings, come memories of the past to bring on a fit of the blues or arouse an insipration of fond recollection of occurrences of the past.

A THOUGHTFUL MAN.

M. M. Austin of Winchester, Ind., knew what to do in the hour of need. His wife had such an unusual case of stomach and liver trouble, physicians could not help her. He thought of and tried Dr. King's New Life Pills and she got relief at once and was finally cured. Only 25c, at Holton's Drug Store, Conyers & Sykes, proprietors.

We object to the word "winsome" straying out of a novel to be applied to any real girl.

SATISFACTION.

It is always a source of satisfaction to know of a remedy that can always be relied on in emergencies and when accidents occur, such a remedy is Elliott's Emulsified Oil Liniment. It is the most serviceable Accident and Emergency Liniment ever produced, and is just as satisfactory in all cases where a Liniment is required.

The Consumer still Plays.

Detroit Free Press.

Sixty thousand employes of the anthracite coal companies are now working little more than half time in order to restrict the output and keep up prices. It is esttimated that by November 1st the normal production will have been restricted 1,200,000 tons. The men will lose 1,000,000 in wages and the public will pay topnotch prices for coal. This reminds us that the consumer is still "It".

STOMACH TROUBLE CAUSES HEART TROUBLE.

Heart trouble is almost always caused by stomach trouble. The stomach fails to digest all the food, and the residue ferments, forming excess of gas which distends the walls of the stomach, causing a pressure on the nerves and arteries that lead to the heart. This causes the heart to palpitate or skip a beat occasionally, or both, which is usually very alarming, causing grave apprehensions. Rydales Stomach Tablets will prevent this trouble. They digest the food and prevent gas from forming in the stomach. If there is no gas in your stomach your heart will not trouble you.

Southern Loan & Trust Building

AT THE GRAND.

The leading male role in "Polly Primrose," in which Adelaide Thurston will be seen here Wednesday, Oct. 14, at the opera house, is played by Brinsley Shaw, a Harvard graduate. Thecurious thing is that the character he impersonates is that of a young New Yorker of '63, just out of Yale, a graduate of the class of '62. Miss Thurston wanted a real Yale man for the role, of course, but the fact that Mr. Shaw suited the part to a "T", both as to manner and looks effected a compromise. All of which reminds us of the fact that the average college man in a play is a "sight" for the mortal gods to behold! The reason for this is, we suppose, that the "college man" is usually impersonated by a "scrub actor" who has even missed the preliminary of a common school education.

Keeping Pace.

To keep pace with our achievings in other lines of business, apparent to every one and especially to those who after long absence now honor us with their presence, the Southern Loan and Trust Company of Greensboro, N. C., with capital and surplus of over $210,000.00 has lately organized an old line life insurance department.

The "Trust Bonds" issued by this company furnish every desirable feature of modern life insurance, and are sold at "Protection Rates," that is, rates sufficient to support the contracts and defray legitimate expenses but stripped of all loading from which to estimate Dividends, Bonuses, Surplus Accumulations, Distribution Funds, and other such vague quantities.

Send your name, address and age to the company's home office for particulars of a policy on your life.

Won Her Papa's Pardon.

Atlanta, Oct. 11.—A letter written to Governor Terrell several days ago by a little girl, in which she asked the governor to "please let my papa come home, I miss him so much," had such an effect on the Prison Commission that that body recommended a pardon for L. A. Hester, the man in question.

Today, by the governor's approval, he walked out a free man. He left for his home in Campbell county and once more he will be with his family. Hester was sentenced to the penitentiary for life being involved in the murder of an old negro in Campbell county several years ago.

At the Central Carolina Fair

At this particular time, the favorite of all favorites, "The Old Plantation" scarcely needs be introduced to you. No Gala week or Midway would be complete without this exhibition, and the management has gathered together a company that will certainly entertain you in songs and dances characteristic of the colored race. If it hurts you to laugh don't go.

The Southern Loan and Trust Company offers to policyholders greater security, measured by the ratio of assets to liabilities than any other life company.

All this valuable in life insurance is provided for in the "Trust Bonds" of this company, which are sold at "Protection Rates."

Send the Company's home office your name, address and date of birth for the particulars of a policy on your life.

The Ben A. Young procession to the Fair grounds created quite a commotion on the streets late yesterday afternoon. It was led by a wagon carrying a apple tree from which the ripe fruit hung invitingly. Under the tree a number of little girls sat on rustic seats. In the procession was a transcency reading "North Carolina prices something else besides big me
